STUDENT UNION

The understatement of the month has to be that there were a lot of suggestions sent in to the S. U. from the brainstorming session held in period five on October, the 9th. If you don't believe this, consider that at least 1100 students wrote their thoughts down on slips of paper. And maybe they each made three suggestions?.....do you realize what it takes to read through 3000-odd suggestions?!!!!

Well, whatever it takes, our S. U. certainly has it! Come October 14th--a student Council meeting took place. Purpose: to discuss the correlated and compiled suggestion of October 9 brainstorming session. About 50 items were reviewed by the council, and most ideas received the "go ahead" no negotiations were to take place before the beginning of the next week. So we all joyfully carted out the old ski equipment, had all-night drunks and orgies, and generally had a high old time. Some of the stuffy straights grumbled and sighed and shook their heads at the foolish cavorting and hit the old books preparing for the upcoming exams.

And the strike dragged on through the week. And parents started to consider - how we all laughed - taking over the janitors' jobs. And then the janitors heard about it, and the strike threatened to drag on even longer.

And for a couple of days thereafter, the school board and the janitors sat around trying to decide whether or not to get anything done.

But then, on Tuesday--about two weeks after the strike began--the janitors' consciences supposedly started bothering them and they decided to go back to work, to the joy of the parents. Strangely enough, they announced just after this that they had agreed to arbitration. Wow! what a hit for public opinion, eh? Good-O janitors! But we came back on the fourth to what? MIDTERMS.

for further study. These items have supposedly been posted in the homerooms by considerate room reps. (cont.)

October 9 Concert (Dance)
Long Time Coming
8:00 - 11:30
Just another dance.

ALLRIGHT, KIDDIES-- THE STRIKE'S OVER. COME BACK NOW....

Yes, it was a fun holiday, wasn't it people? Everyone thought that the local janitor strike would be over by the Monday after the first weekend.

But no, sweeties -- it wasn't meant to be! We all found out that it was going to be a long one when it was announced Friday that

Well, we're certainly not going to list them all here, Sweeties!

Also Mentioned at the October 14th meeting was the financial report on the October 9th Dance, extensive coverage of which has been given elsewhere in this issue. The red ink bottle remains capped it seems. We made a profit of 90 dollars (clappa-clappa-clip-clappa), and 30 dollars went to the Debaters for their skillful coat checking techniques. After the treasurer's report, cheerfully submitted by Brian "the Bookie" Davis, the council was informed by President Don Morris that there was a further loss in the Jubilaires production, of $45--to cover the cost of the lenses "lost" after the performance. The Student Union would sure like to send a big Thank You over to the Dip(s) who make off with them lenses.....a suggestion Sweeties--don't hold any light-shows for a while!!

A real thank you, however must go out to the teachers and administration, who have let us students show that we can keep the lunch tooms clean by ourselves. Student supervisors went on duty on October 19th, and the caretakers noted that they had less mess to clean. And why not?!!.....

Another little project recently put underway- under the chairladyship of room rep Gail Foskett--was the Student Directory. This directory will include the name, address, phone number, grade, and home room of most everybody in the school.

Strike a blow for Motherhood...get someone pregnant

The best thing about it, though, is probably its price--around 10¢. (per copy you yo-yos in the Chem. Dept.--you wouldn't believe how tight fisted they are in there -- you'd almost think Dzwiniel was a Scottish name!)

The issues of the courtyard and/or the student lounge were--well.....err.....discussed, anyway....

One thing that occurred which startled many people, was the sale of poppies on November 5th, while Remembrance Day's generally held on November 11th. Yet, when you really think about it, this is the way it should be done. Nowadays, special days of honor tend to be celebrated exactly as they come -- people become like cards in a computer--moving along until they are channeled into a slot, then stamped, then led on, without really considering the why of things. The poppies blooming early on shirt collars and coats remind everyone of the Wars and put them in a suitable frame of mind for the actual Service Day--a good thing, really.

Things coming up soon, if the Lord is willing, if the school doesn't collapse into a mine shaft, and/or the student body and the student union get together!

The Christmas Lit - Fantastic frolic and Seasonal merriment. along with your favorite characters -- that zany, fun loving bunch of clods--The Teachers--ready to "sleigh" you with their antics. "Ebenezer" Shillington" "Frosty Fairbanks", "Jingle Bells Jardine", Dancer, Prancer, Comet, Vixon, Donner, Dasher, Jennifer and Agnes, not to mention--Rudolph the Red Nosed Moysa! And don't forget kiddies read about it all in the March 1971 edition of the Tally--or the Edmonton Journal, (which ever comes out first!!!).....

A Graffiti Wall - Scrawl your favorite quotations from Mao Tse Tung, John Lennon, Julius Sumner Miller, the Sturgeon County Weekly News, the Delsey Bathroom Tissue, or something original, even.....

A Camping Weekend - for the WHOLE SCHOOL--dream on sweeties, dream on.....

Mural Painting - we've graduated from garbage cans...

Muki Luki Daze - Thpring Thaw. Hang in there people, spring is only four months away (next week at this tim this stupid issue gets out) And Fun Dances - sprinkled throught --not like October 9th we hope.....

So as you can see, our S. U. is really gonna be busy for a while.....so stay away from the school 'til January or so, so's they can get something done, if you will.

THE COURTYARD

The recently aquired Courtyard is now under a foot of snow so this brings up many ideas on what could be done to make it usefull during the whole school year rather than six months (in a good year). Suggestions such as putting a roof or plexiglass dome over it can be heard around the hallways (if you listen very closely), but think about it. Certainly a plexiglass dome has it all over a solid roof that would kill the grass and leave us with nothing more than a high roofed room with a dirt floor that can be seen from eleven seperate rooms. But even a dome would have many drawbacks.

First of all the snow that has fallen in the past weeks would have fell on our see-through dome (if we had it) making it at best only translucent and absolutely dark on cloudy days.

And if not being able to see the sky is not enough to turn you away from the idea then try the cost for heartburn. Although my figure is only a poor guess you can imagine that $ 5000 is not underestimating the cost of a custom made piece of Plexiglass the size of our courtyard.

There is also the problem of installation, it's going to take more than Chester and Mr. Shillington to get a piece of plastic mounted on top of McNally. Another $ 5000 might cover installation of lights, heating and a firebell. The total cost could range anywhere from $ 10,000 to $30,000 and I for one can not see paying $ 30,000 which the student's union does not have for somthing the students do not need.

"You throw the chips at him. and I'll get the camera.

Well, here it is. The Article everyone's been waiting for. A Guest Editorial from the Student's Union at Jasper Place to us, the students of McNally.

Davie Williams was looking for something- anything to fill up some space in our Newspaper. It was then that I came up with the beautiful idea of the Message. Dave liked the idea! So I phoned up Deb Davidson J.P.'s Pres. in charge of Vice... Several weeks later, an article had been written. However- having it written up and getting the article over to the Tally Office proved to be two very different things!! J.P.'s Council had to approve it first.

J.P.'s S.U. Constitution was revised this year- and with it, the size of the Student Council. Now there are twelve members. And along with the increase in size there was an increase in the probability the article would not be accepted. It wasn't. As a matter of fact-- the council, according to Deb, laughed her and her article right out of the council room!

There is a saying that goes something like "You can't squeeze blood out of a dry rock." I was beginning to think that this saying came up when another reporter attempted this same feat.

BUT finally, on November 7th-- three weeks after I'd set out on my quest I received a phone call from Doug Payne, the President of the J.A.S.U. He informed me that HE, personally, would write for me the "Long-hoped-for-but-never recieved" article. On Monday, November 9th, I became the Proud owner of one (1) message From The Council of J.P.C.H.S. To The Students of M.C.H.S.

Lastly, it is my duty, honour, and privilege to give the a message from Doug Payne, on behalf of the Student Council of Jasper Place Compsite High School, to the entire Student Body of McNally. It is an extremely good article, for an amateur. On behalf of McNally, thanks to Doug and we did not change a thing.

THE TALLY

"At the beginning of this year J.P. suffered from an expansion. That's an odd way to put it, but really the enlargement of an already too large school causes problems.

It is nice having the additional facilites, such as the extra space of the tower, a third library, a third gymnasium and a few other things, but do you realize the problems these present?

There are approximately 2500 students going to J. P. this year, one hundred and thirty teachers, and Administration galore. The population makes the school more impersonal than ever. You can't know everyone, you're lucky if you know a quarter.

Another point that comes to my mind is the fact that there is an increase of apathy--a common problem in every school today. Everyone seems to feel that there will always be someone to do the work and help the Students' Union. If anything, there is less participation. We enlarged the Student Council and re-incorporated room reps (we haven't had them for two years) to increase representation. This has helped matters a little but we still found it very difficult to keep up with the work load. We find there are more people to please-- It was hard enough last year.

I don't know how things are at McNally but a good question to ask is, "Do you help the Students' Union at your school?" I think, if you have helped you will already know how much fun it can be and the number of nice people you can meet. If you haven't--try it out and see for yourself.

WE GET LETTERS

CAFETERIA

Dear Tally,

We, the students of McNally, want more kepchup with our french fries. Come on, let's get something going.

CANS

Dear Tally,

How about putting some pressure on the janitorial staff to put some paper towels and soap in the washrooms?

Smut Weakly

Dear Editor,

Everytime I go into the boys washroom in the P. E. locker room, there are no paper towels to dry your hands with. Please tell the janitorial staff about this, and get them to do something about it.

Wet Hands

REPS

Dear Editor,

I feel that you should keep a closer watch on the room reps.

When they come to class they don't tell us nothing unless we ask. Sometimes I wonder if they go at all. I'd like to know what goes on in the student body.

Your sincerely

THE TALLY

Dear Editor,

What kind of a newspaper do you think you run? You have an edition about every half year and when you do it isn't worth anything anyway. There's nothing of value in it. So why don't you get to work, and collect stuff that is interesting to the student body?

G. H.

- We're trying G. H. . . .
How about a little help from our friends . . . ?

Dear Tally,

For the last two years I have seen many people criticize, laugh at, compliment, and throw away editions of the Tally. But in all this time I have never had one I could call my own. Why can't a paper as rich, enterprising, and intelligent as the Tally, make enough copies to go around?

G.W.

- Duhhhh . . . I dunno

-Ed.

Dear Editor,

The students feel there needs to be a lot of improvements in the McNally Tally. One improvement is the distribution of the Tally. Enough copies should be given to the Room Reps to be handed out during the last five minutes of period five and six. Although there are a lot of improvements, we feel if you keep up the good work, it will become very popular.

Little Sus

- Lastyear's staff thought that that was a good idea, but they had hundreds of left over Tallies then.

Now we hand them out individually, at noon hour--less waste . . .

Dear Editor,

I read the last Tally you put out and I thought it was very good except I missed the True Grit column. It was a very funny page. I don't know why you left it out but please put it back in.

Yours sincerely,
Jack Webb

- True Grit is a Tally reader missing True Grit.

Dear Editor;

I think that the "McNally Tally" is coming along fairly well, but there is also a lot of room for improvement. I suggest you include more material-- things such as more stories, also things of general interest to everyone. Try to put in more pictures and news items to keep the attention of us readers.

S. W. V.

- Gee We never thought of that!

Dear Editor,

I would like to comment on the way you write up the Tally. Some of the items that you write about are really boring and should be livened up a lot. Other items, where the students are directly involved are very interesting. I think you could improve the Tally by adding more student activities here at school and by showing more pictures. Otherwise, I think you deserve praise, so keep those chins up and grit those teeth.

STUDENTS UNION

Dear Editor,

I think that our elections here at McNally leave a lot to be desired. The elections last year were not really elections, they were popularity contests. At first nobody wanted to run for any of the offices at all until we were threatened that there would be no Student Council at all.

Then, all at once people started to nominate people to run, whether or not they were capable of the office of which they ran. The students elected people because they were their friends; not because they might think they would do a good job.

Sincerely Yours,
"Poopsy"

- You've got a point, Poopsy. Let's hope the students care enough this time to participate without being embarrassed into running for office. How about it people?

Dear Editor,

I would like to say that I think the Students Union is very good this year.

Don Morris had been really trying to promote more student spirit and I think he is doing a great job.

Thank you,
McNally Student.
S. R.

PUBLICITY

Dear Editor,

I would like to see Mc-

Nally get more publicity in the media. The Journal reserves room for this but I hardly ever see anything worth mentioning in there about our high school. The radio stations (CHED) are usually downgrading our school teams and the television never carries anything about us.

I guess that the only way that we could possibly get our name in the news is to have a mass riot or burn the school down but even at that, we would probably get a little corner on the back page.

Yours truly,
G. J.

- hear hear!!!

E. T. S.

Dear Tally,

I would like to comment upon our totally useless Student Union Cards. I recently boarded an E. T. S. bus and ended up paying adult fare because the driver would not accept the card as substantial proof of my age. I think this is very poor as our card is supposed to be used for exactly such purposes. I hope that the Students Union will make some arrangements with the E. T. S. and give us some use for our cards.

Losing Money Fast

- The E. T. S. has made it clear that its drivers will only accept the special green cards provided for that purpose. To get one, sent a copy of your birth certificate to the E. T. S. Your student I. card does have a use - for getting into shows at Student admissions, and getting haircuts at student prices and it makes a fine straight edge for drawing lines . . .

AROUND THE SCHOOL

Dear Editor,

Many of the students in McNally Comp. High School feel we should start working on an indoor smoking area for the cold months coming. We feel we should write and get your comments on this topic, before we present it to the Students Union.

Thankyou,
John Henry

- An issue as important as this one should be commented on by as many people as possible. Students of McNally would be interested to read the opinions of the Students of McNally. How about it--students of McNally?

Dear Editor,

Might I remind the members of the administration that there are staff washrooms and there are student washrooms. Us students would appreciate it if never the "twain" shall meet.

COFFEE HOUSE??

Dear Tally,

Here is a suggestion as a change to dances, concerts, and classes, which has been tried on a small basis in some Eng. 20 classes. The idea is a Coffee House.

The St. F. X. Coffee House was held after a football game and hundreds of students from St. F. X.

and the opposing team showed up. The entertainment was basically folk singers and groups along that line. The decorations were simple and inexpensive. The windows were covered in black paper and the walls were done in newspaper. The lighting effect was done with rotating mirror balls and wine bottles and candles. Pizza were sold and coke were sold as well.

Teachers are asked to supervise on one dance or concert a year, along with three or four police. Now at dances, the music may turn off many teachers, but for a coffee house the music is more on their level, and we may not have trouble getting staff to supervise. If you want a coffee house, go and talk to your Student's Council at their next meeting.

C. B.

Dear Editors,

I would like to comment on a recent experiment in English classes of having a "Coffee House". The lights are turned off and candles lighted throughout the room. Modern music is played in turn with thought-provoking poetry. I think this should become a regular weekly or bi-weekly activity. There is a very casual atmosphere contrasted with the stiff formality of regular classes. The seating is arranged and a black light connected (with posters) to create a general air of relaxation. I think that just as much, if not more, can be learned on these occasions as can be learned from pages of grammar or a lecture on English History.

-Betty Chalmers

-It seems that this "coffee house" idea is a good one and it seems to be catching on elsewhere-why not here?? See your room rep and ask him/her to mention it at the next Council meeting...

THE TREND FOR '71

Not too much noise has been heard from the staff of the TREND this year, but small rumblings often produce momentous finales!!!

Indications are that the 1971 TREND will be an extravagant publication with increased page size and an increased number of pages. Full page pictures, interesting script and colored paper, combined tastefully and artistically will be the order of style for this year. The TREND staff will consist of Mr. Johnson, Susan Byers, Carol Ozipko, Pat Smith, Jan Buchanan, Shelley Cinnamon, Joan Buchanan, Joan Burrough and Stan McBain as photographer.

Anyone who is interested in working on the yearbook this year is invited to get in touch with Mr. Johnson in Room 137. Meetings are held Tuesdays at noon.

"Okay... Gord, you and Rick set up the tent right here... And I want Don to dig the latrine-- over by those Goal-posts..."

GRAD COUNCIL FORMED-- JUST BARELY

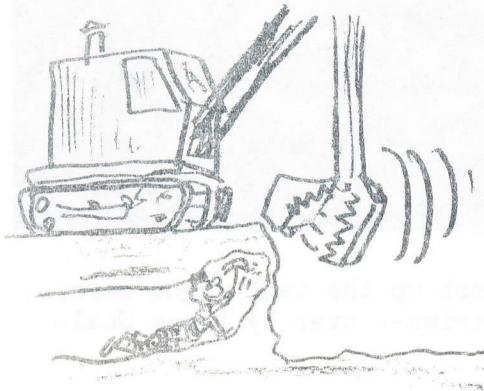

Right. You've read the title--and, if you are not a Grad, and you have something better to do, you probably won't read on past this sentence. If you are a Grad, and you don't have anything better to do, you will read on, but most likely you will just skim along looking for the results of The Grad Council Election. Because you can see that this is going to be another one of those goodie-goodie speeches about the apathy in the school.

If you do feel this way, then probably you are one of the reasons why the Grad Affair turned out to be a rather nothing-type thing.

At an assembly of all McNally Students last year, a number of complaints were aired. Among these, and very likely the most important point made, was the one made by John Hovie, then chairman of the Booster Club:

"The people in this school are too 'Cool' to participate in Student Union affairs."

The same thing can be said of the majority of the Grads this year who just couldn't have cared less about coming down and seeing what was to be done about their own Graduation Exercises. They were too cool to consider supporting someone they knew would do a good job on council. In fact, there was one case in particular where a person was nominated on the basis of "friendship". Fortunately, the nominee graciously admitted this, and thus probably prevented a good many votes from going out to the wrong person, and leaving a better qualified person out of the race.

In general, McNally has come up a long way in relation to some schools in the city. While the trend has been for great schools to slide down away, this one has gone up on its way to becoming the greatest. The main reason that the others are falling behind is the apathy of the Student Body. So far, McNally's students have increased their participation--and it has helped improve our image immensely.

So grads and future Grads--take heart. Things are looking up. Don't blow it by not being a part of it!

And so, after all, the Grad Council was elected.

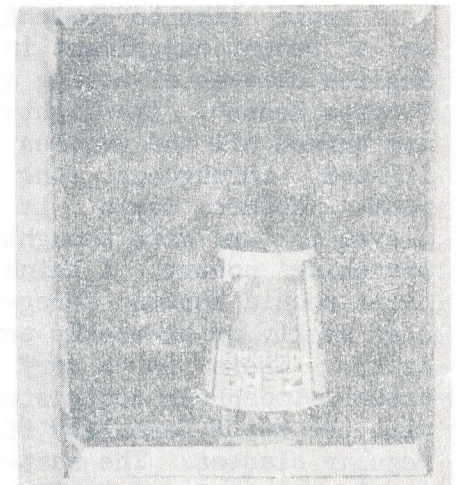

Marj Meters was elected President. She'll be assisted by Vice-Pres Lauri Baldwin. Secretary is Jill Stiles.

We hope that the Grads this year will get behind their council and help in planning the most successful Graduation ever. Lots of Luck--and a wish for a little help from your friends.

Did you hear about the B.D. Tap Dancer? He fell in the sink.

WHY?

Apathy isn't a fault of the students, it is the fault of the people in power. Maybe people didn't come to the Grad Council campaign speeches because they weren't interested in the grad. That could be the whole problem. Now that the council has been elected, it's up to them to organize the kind of grad a majority of people would enjoy. Mybe all those people who didn't come on Tuesday aren't interested in the traditional kind of grad. Maybe, then, the grad council could get more support if they had a new kind of grad, a different kind. A survey of all the grad opinions would clear up this situation; the grad council could see just what everybody wanted and would enjoy. How about it, girlies?

Guy Fawkes Day-- A new twist has been added to the regular effigy burning common during the regular celebration of the Great Bomb Plot of 1605. Somebody actually blew up the British Houses of Parliament!!!

Yea-a-aaay Orange and Brown--er-- Black and Grey-- or whatever.....

A PASSING THOUGHT;
(SENIOR FOOTBALL 1970)

Looking back, from the view of a player, it almost doesn't seem real. It almost seems like a dream, the practices every day, the games, the noise, the excitement, the glory, . . . over . . . gone.

"Big Orange", the McNally Tigers, the fierce Orange Machine, and the laughing jovial guys in the locker room. It's hard to believe they were the same people. The same people who, after losing an exhibition game to St. Mary's, laughed, and sprang back to be number one in the regular league. The same guys who defeated Big Bonnie Doon; who had scored more points than any other team and had allowed the least against.

But as in a dream the big orange faded, and after five straight wins, the clock ran out and the scoreboard told us we were out of the finals. All the battering and bruises we had suffered since August were in vain. Maybe our suffering wasn't; as they say, "there's always next year." And maybe we've started a winning tradition for next years' Tigers to carry to the finals.

That's the way the football bounces, (really) first one way then the other. At least the guys have the consolation of being the best Tigers to come along so far, and geing the greatest bunch of guys to come along, too.

CURLING

Bang! The starting gun has sounded and McNally curling resumes once again. Once more, every Wednesday after school, we hear the resounding call, "Mom, where's my curling broom?", and once more we spot, here and there, the one time avid curlers limping up the stairs at home, holding their backs and groaning. Broken legs, arms, and backs, not forgetting to mention blisters, are included on the injury list, but they must be enjoying themselves or else there is the possibility that they are all masochists. Dave Williams is the leader and 40 odd kids are the followers, plus about the same number of AOB kids. Mr. McKinnon, (the sponsor), Mr. Murphy, Mr. Topolensky, Mr. Caldwell, Mr. Johnson and Miss Piche are the teachers also partaking in this merry band. Curling is well on its way now, so let's give it a little extra push with our "GOOD LUCK."

FEMALE POWER WINS!

On October 24, a group of loyal, quick-fingered Finger girls gathered at the Kinsmen Field House to win the Christmas Seal Stuffing Contest. This contest is held annually by the Kinsmen to get volunteers to stuff 180,000 envelopes with Christmas seals. There were 17 schools participating, each having approximately 10,000 envelopes to stuff in as short a time as possible.

The McNally team consisted of the Senior and Junior Cheerleaders, plus nine "civilians" (who came for con't.

the free pop and do-nuts). For those of them who would like to see their name in print, they were: Terry Smith, Donna Myatt, Carol Love, Jan Hasselfields, Sue Byers, Jan Buchanan, Sharon Bristow, Linda Bauer, and Lauri Baldwin.

Although the team didn't have any trouble with the actual stuffing, (except for dozens of paper-cuts) there was the problem of getting to the Field House. Under orders from a certain R. K., most of the team went to the Prince of Wales Armories, (where the contest was held last year). After being greeted by hundreds of Cadets, they decided that it just wasn't the place, and by thumbing, walking or otherwise, everyone made it to the contest on time.

The trophy is on display in the showcase by the general office. Congratulations to all the girls who were on the team!

BOYS VOLLEYBALL

The Sr. and Jr. Boys Volleyball teams advanced to the city Semi-Finals with an 11-1 win-loss record, placing both teams first in their division. On Friday the teams will play in the city Semi-Finals, the Juniors playing at seven, and the Seniors at eight thirty.

Wes Montgomery wears Orange and Brown Socks! (Probably one on each foot.)

The McNally Tally is pleased to announce the coming of age of Mr. Jack Kunst. On his birthday, Friday, November 13, he became old enough to be 17.

PUT A TIGER IN YOUR CAST !

JUBILAIRES PRESENT: CARNIVAL!

On Thursday, Oct. 8, the students of McNally witnessed a play of magnificence put on by the U of A Jubilaires. An excellent performance was headed by Mr. J. D. Greene, who played Marco; Miss Candy Oliver as Rosalie; Mr. D. Beschell as Paul; Miss D. Haug as Lili; and Gordon Gordy who played Jacquot.

A total of 27 songs filled out the play, seasoned by a clever addition of spicy humor, mellowed with dramatic flavor. The Jubs. will be putting on one more musical and one dramatic play this year. Let's hope that this will measure up to the high standard of excellence set up by their production of Carnival. If they do, (and I'm sure they will) we at McNally will be looking forward to seeing these plays here at the Home of the Brown and Orange.

On Oct. 14 and 15, the Drama Club put on this year's yearplay, "Scenes '70". It consisted of several improvisations performed by both Drama Club members and Drama students.

The high spot of the evening was the world premiere of "Sami and His Golden Yo-yo". The Hero, Sami, (Werner Knittel) was heroic, the Kid, played by Alan Palynchuk was a superb kid, and the villain - Dumpty, (Chris Feniak), was totally villainous. But, as always, Good won out and Apple Pie and Niceness prevailed.

The improvisations were excellent, too. One, called "The Frozen Mind", had Eleanor Boyden portraying a condemned prisoner. This was excellently done, with the final scream of agony penetrating the whole Classroom-Turned-Theater. The support given to Theater 102 was really good, with a total of about 200 theater patrons attending the two nights. The Drama Club would like to thank every body who helped on this production.

INFLATED CAFETERIA PRICES.
DINING IN WITH P. TOMAINE

After years of providing McNally students with edible food at competitive prices, our cafeteria (the one with the long line-ups pointing toward it every noon hour) has finally succumbed to the pressures of the norm.

"Huh?" You ask. Well what I really mean is that the idiots raised the stupid prices on chips, hamburgers, bismarcks and Lord-knows-what-else!

"But why?" is the most likely next five-hundred-thousand - dollars -in-pure $25\frac{3}{4}$ carat-gold question.

A-Hah! That is the question! Is it that hamburger bun prices are not what they used to be? (the hamburgers sure aren't--urrrp!) Or is it that the Caf-Staff is in business for itself? One thing is sure, though--they must be making a mint on what they save by plopping down only one two-square-inch envelope of ketchup with every 30¢ order of french fries.

But maybe we shouldn't complain. The price increase is probably the most effective measure taken that I have seen to cut down cafeteria crowding and noon-hour long dole lines....

IMPORTANT-TYPE NOTE:

So as to be fair to Mrs. Gagnaux and all the cafeteria crew, we decided to try and find out exactly what the reason was for the new price increases. It seems that the School Board is no longer paying wages for the cooking staff in schools. This means that the schools themselves must pay their kitchen people. And to do that, naturally, the cafeterias must become self supporting. Hence, the price jumps. Mr. Moysa did some phoning around, and it looks like only now that our prices are comparable With those of other schools.

TEAR DROPS

His tears dropped silently
Into my hair, and I didn't know,
Nor could I see
How much he was in love with me.

He was happy for a time,
And his unlucky love did nought but grow:
Yet it's cruel I am,
And cast him off like dirt or grime.

And now my tears drop silently
Through my fingers, into my pillow
And now I see
How much he was in love with me.

Read the Thistle - it puts purple fuzz on your fingernails.

Due to the fact that the Tally staff consists of, in its entirety, a number of Grade Twelve students, who will soon be writing their Departmentals, it would be appreciated immensely-- at least by the Tally staff-- if some replacement-type people would come in to start taking over the paper. All you radicals are reminded that a newspaper can be a good tool for spreading the word, etc. And all you literary-type folk are reminded that the Tally desperately needs literate staff members. so for whatever reason, please come and see what you can do. The Tally is your paper! You paid for it (25¢ out of your S.U. fees), so come and put in your two bits worth! Rm. 209. Noon hours. Weekdays only.
